

Important Notice:

One of our systems has a new name.

Op Central is now:

Ideagen Procedure Management

Ideagen, the company that hosts our site, is rebranding to bring all their products under one unified brand identity. Here are a few important changes to note.

What you'll notice

When you log in after 8 October, you may see some updated branding elements and icons on our site, and an updated Mobile App name.

Your company's branding and site name remain unchanged – we're still the same system you use every day, and there is no impact on the features and functionality you use the system for.

What's NOT Changing

- Your login details
- All your work, documents, and data
- Site address (URL)
- Your company's custom branding

Questions?

- Contact your system administrator.

Mobile App: The Key Change

- The app now has a new name and icon (the icon will impact Android only).
- When you need to download or search for the app, look for Ideagen Procedure Management with our new icon
- Your existing app will continue to work – you don't need to do anything right now. However, when you next update or reinstall the app, use the new name to find it.
